DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The listing of references in the Search Report is not considered to be an information disclosure statement (IDS) complying with 37 CFR 1.98. 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2) requires a legible copy of: (1) each foreign patent; (2) each publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; (3) for each cited pending U.S. application, the application specification including claims, and any drawing of the application, or that portion of the application which caused it to be listed including any claims directed to that portion, unless the cited pending U.S. application is stored in the Image File Wrapper (IFW) system; and (4) all other information, or that portion which caused it to be listed. In addition, each IDS must include a list of all patents, publications, applications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office (see 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1) and (b)), and MPEP § 609.04(a), subsection I. states, "the list ... must be submitted on a separate paper." Therefore, the references cited in the Search Report have not been considered. Applicant is advised that the date of submission of any item of information or any missing element(s) will be the date of submission for purposes of determining compliance with the requirements based on the time of filing the IDS, including all "statement" requirements of 37 CFR 1.97(e). See MPEP § 609.05(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3679

3. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese Patent 8-014449.

In regard to claim 1, Japanese Patent 8-014449 discloses a pipe coupling comprising a tubular body for a pipe to be inserted in through a rear end thereof, a front and a back ring to be fitted around the pipe projecting from the rear end of the body, and a cap nut for tightening up the front and back rings to fix the pipe to the body, the pipe coupling being characterized in that the back ring is made of an alloy that is intended to provide corrosion protection and that is harder than the first ring and pipe to provide a compact and corrosion resistant pipe joint, but Japanese Patent 8-014449 does not disclose that the back ring is made out of the exact composition as that recited by the Applicant. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to make the hardened and corrosion resistant back ring of Japanese Patent 8-014449 out of the alloy recited by the Applicant, in order to improve upon the corrosion and hardness properties of the back ring, because the selection of a known material based upon its suitability for the intended use is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Leshin, 227 F.2d 197, 125 USPQ 416 (CCPA 1960).

In regard to claim 2, Japanese Patent 8-014449 discloses that the back ring is case hardened and therefore harder than the front ring and that both rings are harder than the pipe, as they dig into the pipe's exterior upon assembly. However, Japanese Patent 8-014449 does not disclose that exact Vicker's hardness value of the materials. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to make the rings and pipe out of material containing the hardness values recited by the Applicant because the selection of a known material based upon its suitability for the intended use is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Leshin, 227 F.2d 197, 125 USPQ 416 (CCPA 1960).

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Sugiyama et al., Behrens et al., Crawford and Kreidel et al. all disclose similar couplings common in the art.
